

“Audible’s idea works. It’s not often that you find something that works like it’s supposed to, sells for a fair price and is easy to use. But that’s exactly what they’re offering at Audible.com.” - Kansas City Star, April 2, 2002

“Within minutes of listening to my audio content, I found myself white-knuckling the steering wheel. I was engrossed in the life story of White Fang, and to my delight, so was my 11-year-old niece, who usually squirms and talks a mile a minute in the car.”

Raise Funds by Listening to Literature

Audible delivers spoken word audio programs over the Internet. Parents can select and download over 45,000 hours of great audio, stories, science, fiction, drama, children's classics, language and grammar help, as well as the best daily and weekly periodicals.

Audible's titles are easier to obtain and less expensive than books on tape or CD. You own the titles, and we keep a library for you on the web, so you can go back and reselect your favorites any time.

From there, you can listen on your computer, burn a CD or transfer the audio to a MP3 player, Pocket PC or Apple iPod.

That means you and your family can listen anywhere: driving to school, on trips, commuting, working out, or you can just turn off the TV and listen to great spoken word as a family. It's also great for projects and assignments.

Thank you so much for your time, and I hope to welcome you as an Audible customer soon.

-- Don Katz, CEO

GETTING STARTED

Getting started is really easy.

1. Go to www.audible.com/fundraising/greengate
2. Select a Listener plan

We'll create your account and your personal library. After that, you can choose titles according to the plan you selected.

Each month for the first 4 months, we will credit Greengate School with $6.00, and will pay them every 3 months.
